Statement from Senator Mike Prusi on the Bipartisan DC Trip to Push for Support for the Auto Industry

"Our economic turnaround is closely tied to the survival and success of the domestic auto industry and all of the jobs connected to it, so Republicans and Democrats should come together to support these companies and their workers. Providing a bipartisan, united front is an important part of changing the minds of some critics in Congress and I believe our recent talks with leaders in Washington were helpful in that effort."
